Council Moves Towards Securing Title Deeds Of Arena

Union Delegates Attend Council Meeting; Councillors Make Reports On their Investigations

The two committees chosen at the last council meeting made their reports at the regular council meeting held on Monday evening. Also present were two union representatives, Messrs. Jimmy Joyce and "Brick" Bell. Councillor Abousafy reported that he had interviewed the arena directors and found them very enthusiastic towards the proposal of the council, aided by the union, taking over control of the arena. Messrs. McBurney and Boulton, directors, had voiced their intention of working wholeheartedly with the council.

Councillors Ford, Ramsay, Jenkins and Cox reported that they had placed the proposal of the town taking over the arena in front of the miners' union meeting last Sunday. The union members had been in complete accord with the proposal and had suggested that in addition to taking over the arena that a sports association be formed to include all sports, winter and summer.

One point that the union wanted to be sure on however was the matter of the title deeds and who was to hold them. Councillor Abousafy remarked that since the council was a permanent institution of the town, that body should keep the deeds in its custody, councillors and delegates agreeing that it was a very good suggestion. Councillors Abousafy and Dutil were authorized to approach the directors to secure from them the title deeds and the assurance that the tax arrears against the arena would not be paid and so redeem the deeds. Should this be agreed upon by the directors it will allow the council to place a caveat on the property this year and take possession of the arena in 1944. This will also give assurance to the committee, to be appointed to govern over the sports association, that any money spent this summer on the arena will not be in vain, as no one will be in a position to take the building away from them.

Delegates Joyce and Bell were authorized to meet Councillors Abousafy and Dutil on Tuesday when they would be informed as to whether or not the title deeds had been secured plus the promise the deeds would not be redeemed by payment of taxes within the next year.

Following the next union meeting and the acceptance of the union members of their delegates' report it is very probable that a public meeting will be held to place the proposal before the citizens.

Legion to Raffle Large Rocking Horse

Proceeds in Aid of Welfare Fund; Tickets on Sale This Week-End

To give a boost to the Overseas Welfare Fund treasury the local branch of the Canadian Legion is sponsoring a raffle. The major prize is a rocking horse standing between three and four feet in height. It has a mane, tail, saddle, reins, rockers and every accessory that will make the happiness of some child complete.

The horse was made by Louis Kraty, of Coleman, who seemingly is very adept at this type of woodwork and the rocking horse is one of his best pieces of workmanship.

The toy is valued at about $20. Tickets are being printed and will be on sale by all Legion members at the week-end. The draw will be made on Saturday, March 13. Tickets sell at 25c.

The rocking horse will be on display for a few days at the Legion club and then in some local store window.

LETTERS OF ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Dear Ladies: Thank you ever so much for the grand parcel you sent me at Christmas. I don't think there is anything the girls and boys in the service appreciate more than letters and parcels from home.

It may interest you to know that whenever any of us receive a parcel it is shared by everyone in the barracks. Therefore I think I can feel free to express the rest of the girls "thanks" to you also. —Bessie Kroesing.

Dear Folks: This is really a case of thanking everyone of you twice, first of all for the grand parcel which is really something and second because whenever anyone starts to flaunt their home towns to me and ask what Coleman has got; well that's where I really go to town. I sure stop them in their tracks because no other town has such grand organizations looking to the needs of their service men. Please keep up the grand work as I know you will and so for myself and for the gang that scrounged in and helped me devour a scrumptious fruit cake. All the best for the New Year.—David Smith.

B. C. Cafe Sold to Joe Michalsky For $310; Town Retains Lot

Financial Position Of Town Excellent Says Government Report; Complaints Received Re Ice Sidewalks

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present were Mayor Antroub, Councillors Abousafy, Cox, Dutil, Ford, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Charles Makin was present and asked council to open the road to the dump in order that he might continue collecting ashes. The snow bound road to the dump plus the clogged back alleys had prevented him from collecting ashes for the past two weeks.

It has come to the council's attention that a number of householders were not "playing the game" with the ash collector and that on many occasions he has to stand at the street corner in an endeavor to collect fees for collecting ashes from certain persons. This was deplored by council and they promised to give the matter consideration in the near future. The question of raising the ash fee was discussed and Mr. Makin was asked to place before the council figures as to cost, number of householders having ashes taken away monthly, etc. When this information is supplied they will give serious study towards raising the collection fee, and making it compulsory that all citizens within the town area have their ashes removed.

Mr. Lycka was present and asked council to permit him to pay off taxes owing against his father's residence in west Coleman. Following his departure it was decided that present arrangements regarding this property should not be interfered with and as a result Mr. Lycka's offer was not accepted.

Councillor Jenkins was authorized to secure labor to take the huge covering of snow off the open air skating rink.

The town received an excellent report on the town's finances from the provincial inspector. The secretary's work also was commended upon.

The resignation of Dr. Claxton as M.H.O. was received and accepted. Dr. Liesemer was appointed M.H.O.

Mr. Bryant, of the local Rating Boards, has stated his willingness to meet the council in the near future.

Four offers were received for the B.C. Cafe building. None of the tenders contained any figure for the lot. The figure of $310 offered by Joe Michalsky was accepted. A contract will be drawn up by council and will need be agreed upon by Mr. Michalsky before the sale becomes final. The building will be torn down and all lumber and debris removed on or before May 31. The town still retains ownership of the lot which is valued at $650.

Chief Antle's police report for 1942 was read and accepted. The report paid tribute to the co-operation received by Constable Antle from Sergeant Mudman and his staff at the R.C.M.P. barracks, Blainmore.

The severe cold weather of last week resulted in Mayor Antroub receiving complaints regarding frozen water pipes and icy sidewalks. The matter of icy sidewalks was dealt with in detail and it was decided that town foreman Nikitus secure an air hammer and chip the sidewalks in front of Pattinson Hardware and Coleman Motors, The Friendly Store, and the Motordrome. Metal plates on the sidewalks at Bencko's and the Friendly Store was also spoken upon.

A citizen was attacked and bitten by a dog in town on Monday morning. The case was reported to the police. The dog was found to reside in east Coleman and Sgt. Mudman will be called upon to have it destroyed.

Several youngsters, members of the band, were guilty of leaving the town hall door open the other evening resulting in snow drifting into the building. Council will ask the band secretary to take steps that it will not happen again.

A heater has been purchased for the town truck.

Complaints have been received from householders that coal trucks are unable to get into the snow clogged alleys. Coal stocks of a number of householders are getting low and the matter is becoming serious. Council will endeavor to open up the back alleys.

Due to the heavy snow and severe weather of last week the Sanitary Dairy was unable to deliver milk for several days. The provincial tractor was refused when its services were asked to open up the road. Council, realizing the magnificent fight being made by Dr. Liesemer in trying to attend all his patients without help from a second doctor, had the town snow plow go to east Coleman and open the main streets so that the doctor would be enabled to reach his patients with a minimum of difficulty.

Arena Notes

Since the arena was opened to skating on Saturday, Jan. 16, there has been skating every night from 8 to 10 p.m.

Hockey teams have been organized, namely, Super Pee Wees; Pee Wees; Elks, Lions, Legion and Pattinson's; Mid-gets; Shamrocks and Slovaks.

The juveniles are entering the provincial play-offs and they intend playing here against Bellevue on Sunday afternoon.

The Midgits play their first game on Thursday and the Pee Wee hockey league is scheduled to start at 6 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 30.

With no organized Intermediate hockey the arena is being used regularly by the younger generation. Skating and hockey have been popular and with continued favorable weather the financial outlook will continue to improve.

The Elks and the Lions, two of our town's service clubs are arranging games which will provide some financial help to Jimmy Slugg & Co. who are possibly the youngest managers of any arena in Alberta. The boys are deserving of any assistance that can be willingly offered.

Attend skating and support hockey to help finance your arena.

GENERAL ALEXANDER MAY BE APPOINTED COMMANDER IN THE NEXT BIG OFFENSIVE

London. Lifted to the forefront of popular acclaim by the fall of Tripoli and the successful conclusion of his desert campaign, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in the Middle East, is regarded by many here as the logical man to command the next full-blown offensive of the Allied nations, wherever it may fall.

Gen. Alexander, appointed to supreme command in the Middle East last August, has won firm recognition as one of Britain's most capable strategists.

Throughout the recent desert campaign military authorities stressed the fact that it basically was Gen. Alexander's show, even though Gen. Bernard Montgomery was more in the limelight as battlefield executor on his chief's grand strategy.

Now the public is remembering again that the 41-year-old Alexander won Tripoli in the fall of 1941 and was the chief man off the beach at Dunkirk in the present conflict.

An avowed apostle of the offensive Gen. Alexander has told his junior officers:

"We must not be content to sit behind concrete fortifications. We should take every opportunity to hit back, especially where the enemy is not expecting us."

Many tales are told of Alexander's boldness and courage under fire. Just before the Dunkirk evacuation he and his staff officers and a chauffeur, in a road block to a loss from the channel. Gen. Alexander burned his own clothes and peddled the rest of the distance under fire to take "charge on the beaches."

He was called as a traitor, Wells says. "He never took cover even when the bombing and shelling was at its height."

BECOMES BARONET

But Resident Of Callander, Ont., Does Not Want Title

Callander, Ont. An 83-year-old resident of Callander was notified that he had succeeded to a hereditary baronetcy in England. He is Henry Felix Jervis White-Jervis, and takes the title of his brother, Sir John Jervis White-Jervis, who died at his home in England.

The new baronet has lived in Callander for 10 years. He says the title doesn't mean much to him and that he prefers to remain plain Mr. Jervis. The title was created in 1798 for an ancestor who served under Lord Nelson, as a reward for gallantry in action.

IMPORTANCE OF MAINTENANCE OF HEALTH OF THE CIVILIAN POPULATION IS STRESSED

Ottawa. Importance of maintaining the health of the civilian population as well as that of the armed forces was stressed at a meeting of some 50 medical men, from all parts of Canada, representing the Canadian medical procurement and assignment board and its advisory committee.

Sitting in with the doctors for the opening of the conference were Defence Minister Ralston, Air Minister Power, Labor Minister Mitchell and Pensions Minister Mackenzie.

"The armed services just can't take everything," said Col. Ralston. "We must remember and take care of the civilian population. It is important that we have a healthy nation. In your work you will survey the whole health phase of national life."

The procurement and assignment board's function is to arrange the selection of medical men for the armed forces so as to interfere as little as possible with civilian medical services and to make sure that physicians are available where they are needed either for service personnel or for civilians.

The board appointed 12 field secretaries to work with its divisional advisory committees. They included: Sqn. Ldr. I. M. Cleghorn, M.D. No. 10, Winnipeg; Maj. W. A. Clarke, M.D. No. 11, Vancouver; Flt. Lt. D. B. Stewart, M.D. No. 12, Regina; and Sqn. Ldr. R. M. C. Clare, M.D. No. 13, Calgary.

LABOR FORUM

A New Executive Committee To Be Set Up

Ottawa. A tentative agreement that the National Labor Forum would be reorganized and carried on as a joint undertaking of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Workers Educational Association, the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and the Canadian Congress of Labor was reached at a meeting of the executive of the National Labor Forum.

A new executive committee, on which the two labor congresses will be represented, is to be set up. The CBC also will be represented and two other members will be appointed by the representatives of the four organizations involved.

Consideration is to be given to appointment of a general secretary to supervise the broadcasts, working in conjunction with the member bodies of the forum.

National Labor Forum is broadcast every Wednesday over the national network of the CBC.

Drummond Wron, general secretary of the Workers Educational Association, said in a statement two weeks ago the association decided to withdraw from the National Labor Forum program because of changes he said had been made in script material submitted by the association.

The CBC then announced the executive committee of the forum would meet CBC officials in Ottawa to discuss the withdrawal and also to consider plans for strengthening forum organization and obtaining more effective liaison with organized labor.

REVISED SELECTIVE SERVICE CIVILIAN REGULATIONS GIVE NEW POWER TO LABOR MINISTER

Ottawa. New selective service regulations providing for compulsory transfer in civilian employment of persons in age group subject to military service were announced by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The revised selective service civilian regulations, which are effective immediately, consolidate existing regulations and give new power to the labor minister to confer with the armed forces and other government departments and make recommendations for co-ordination of manpower programs.

The compulsory transfer for civilians may be applied to persons belonging "to an age class or part of an age class which has been designated by proclamation" as subject to military service. The minister may order the employer of such persons to give the employee two weeks' notice if it is considered he can contribute more effectively to the war effort in another job.

A labor department spokesman said later that the authority to transfer men in call-up categories to other work would apply to men in the call-up age groups who have not yet received call-up notices, as well as to men who have obtained a deferment of call or been rejected for medical reasons.

While men granted deferments would normally get it because their jobs were considered essential to the war effort, this source said, it was conceivable there might be cases when deferred men would be transferred from one civilian job to a more vital one.

Another change is that persons between the ages of 16 and 65 years of age must register for work if not gainfully employed for seven consecutive days.

Registration of all unemployed men, commenced last June, expired with a revision of the regulation in September. A special registration of women was also held as a survey of available women.

The regulations formerly required all persons regardless of their age to register for work if unemployed.

The minister announced a tightening of the regulations regarding work outside of the agricultural industry by Canadian farmers. They now may work only 60 days in the year at military occupations without a selective service permit. Previously they could work only 30 days at a stretch without a permit but there was no limitation on the number of 30-day periods they could work off the farm during any given year.

Employment other than farming in which farmers may engage must be outside towns and cities with more than 5,000 population.

The regulations are prefaced by a statement defining the position of voluntary and compulsory provisions of selective service. The minister is required to carry out the government's manpower policies "by the voluntary placement of labor, if that is practical, and shall only exercise the powers of compulsion vested in him by these regulations when, in his opinion, such action is necessary."

In a statement outlining the regulations Mr. Mitchell said they were intended to provide "an increasing control over the employment market."

Under other new provisions in the regulations now effective, every employer must notify the employment service of any surplus workers in his employ, and an employed person may be authorized by a selective service officer to leave his present employment on seven days' notice and accept other employment, when the worker agrees, even though his contract of employment or law might ordinarily require longer notice.

Amendments have been made to the regulations requiring seven days' notice for dismissal or resignation. They now only apply to persons employed for at least one month. Those volunteering for service with the armed forces are no longer required to give notice.

Appeals against ruling of selective service officers, previously heard by war service boards, now will go before courts of referees under the unemployment insurance commission. There are 30 of these courts set up to handle appeals, Mr. Mitchell said.

BUREAU OF STATISTICS ISSUES A REVISED ESTIMATE OF THE 1942 CANADIAN WHEAT CROP

Ottawa. — The Dominion bureau of statistics shed 22,500,000 bushels from its first estimate of Canadian wheat production of 1942 but still left the total the highest ever recorded—592,700,000 bushels.

The first estimate of the crop issued in September placed it at 615,200,000 bushels. This figure was cut by 15,000,000 bushels in the second estimate made in November. The third estimate of 592,700,000 bushels compares with 515,800,000 bushels in 1941.

The bureau said all the latest reduction occurred in the prairie provinces where 1942 production now is estimated at 565,000,000 bushels.

It placed the gross value at the farm of all field crops produced in 1942 at $1,145,778,000, an increase of $161,889,000 over 1941. The grain crops, principally wheat, accounted for most of this increase.

An area of 60,809,200 acres was used in 1942 for production of the principal field crops, an increase of about 4,000,000 acres over the total in 1941.

The third estimate showed little change for the coarse grains produced also a record-making total in 1942. Although the third estimate brought wheat production for 1942 under the 600,000,000-bushel mark, the bureau said the crop remained the largest on record, challenged only by the 567,000,000 bushels produced in 1928 and 540,000,000 bushels in 1940.

Fall wheat production, mainly in Ontario, was estimated at 23,400,000 bushels or about 56 per cent. greater than in 1941.

The record-making wheat crop was produced on an acreage smaller than in 1941 but growth was assisted by an ideal growing season.

The third estimate of the oats crop was 652,000,000 bushels compared with 306,000,000 produced in 1941, while barley production was placed at 259,000,000 bushels compared with 111,000,000 in 1941. The rye crop of almost 25,000,000 bushels compared with about 12,000,000 in 1941 and flaxseed production in 1942 totalled 15,000,000 bushels, a large increase over the 1941 harvest of 5,800,000 bushels.

PEAK PRODUCTION

Britain Plans Increased Output Of War Material This Year

London. — Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, production minister, told the House of Commons that 1943 would be the peak year of British war production and that the total labor force employed in munitions would considerably exceed the 1942 figure.

Further concentration of industry, further withdrawals of labor from less essential industries and a further mobilization of women would be required, he said.

The plan for 1943 provides for increased emphasis on the manufacture of ships, aircraft, anti-submarine devices, tanks and certain specialized types of army equipment, with the result that there will be transfers of labor within the munitions industries themselves, he said.

Churchill and Roosevelt Have Met!

At this historic meeting in North Africa decisions have been made that are expected to alter the course of the war.

The Allies will maintain the initiative against the Axis. There will be no conditional surrender on the part of the Axis to the Allied Nations. These are two of the most important decisions reached.

Behind all this however is the "little man" on whom the Allied leaders depend. To put their decisions into effect they must depend on him to work and sweat so that the munitions of war might flow smoothly from the factories; on him they depend for taxes and loans with which to buy these munitions of war and to pay the brave soldiers, sailors and airmen who risk their lives daily to defeat the Axis.

YOU cannot let your leaders down.

TOWN of COLEMAN FINANCIAL STATEMENT

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31st, 1942

Calgary, Alberta.
25th January, 1943.

The Mayor and Councillors,
The Town of Coleman, Alberta.

Gentlemen:

I beg to advise that in accordance with your instructions and the requirements of the Town and Village Act of Alberta, I have audited the accounts and records of the Town of Coleman for the twelve months ended 31 December, 1942 and, in addition to completing the Report Form required by the Department of Municipal Affairs for Alberta, I have also prepared the attached Cash Statement; Revenue Statement; and Balance Sheet for your information.

The Cash Statement deals only with actual cash transactions completed within the calendar year therefore the cash balance shown thereon does not represent the actual operating surplus for the period, but the Revenue Statement deals with the Receipts and Expenses applicable to the period regardless as to whether such transactions were actually completed when the books were closed at 31 December, 1942. This Revenue Statement shows that after providing the usual Depreciation Reserve on the Fixed Assets owned by the Town, the Town was operated during year 1942 at a surplus of $775.18.

The arrangement made in 1940 between the Town Council and the Coleman School District Trustees was continued through the year 1942.

From the Balance Sheet you will note that the affairs of the Town are in a very satisfactory condition, there being Cash and Securities on hand at 31 December, 1942 totalling $12,676.35 against Current Accounts Payable of $600.52. Town Tax Arrears have again been reduced and were only $5,977.51 at 31 December, 1942, which sum represents about one third of the current year's tax levy. The Depreciation Reserve for Fixed Assets now represents some 84% of the cost value of the Fixed Assets.

I beg to report having visited your office ten times during the past year and on each visit I found the work up to date, the records in balance and the cash properly accounted for.

Subject to the foregoing I certify that, in my opinion, the attached Balance Sheet is properly drawn up to disclose a true and correct view of the affairs of the Town of Coleman as at 31 December, 1942 according to best of my information, the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Town at Coleman, Alberta.

A Tough Life

United States Wartime Restrictions Are Being Felt

John Q. American is awakened by an alarm with a frog in his throat. He'd like to throw it out, but knows he must put up with it for duration. Turning on radio, he's cheered by newscast of Jap defeat, until static reminds him his radio is dying of old age. With a hearty drink, our hero throws back shot that's getting thin, blanket that is innocent of wool, rises from his pillow that never housed a feather. He turns on a leaky shower with a squeaky faucet—that werman plumber wasn't so good—and tries to work up a lather with a thin bar of sycamore soap. That's us—U.S.—in wartime. But cheer up, there's more—and worse—to come!—(John Q. American—1945 Model, Eagle Magazine.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JANUARY 31

JESUS THE BREAD OF LIFE

Golden text: Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life. John 6:35. Lesson: John 6. Devotional reading: Psalm 63:1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Feeding of the Five Thousand. John 6:1-14. Jesus is the Source of life; this is the thought at the close of the fifth chapter of John: Jesus is the Sustainer of life is the thought of the sixth chapter.

One day Jesus crossed over to the eastern side of the Sea of Galilee, hoping to have a quiet time with his disciples on the hillside there. But a crowd of people, Galileans on their way to the Passover at Jerusalem, drawn by the report of Jesus' power over disease, followed on foot around the northern end of the lake to meet him. Seeing the on-coming crowd, Jesus turned to Philip and asked him where bread could be bought for them all. Jesus was only testing Philip, for he had already planned what to do, John informs us. Philip was a practical man of affairs and he made a hasty calculation: It would take at least two hundred stallings' worth of bread, he declared, to give everyone even a little. The margin of our Revised Version explains that the Greek word denarius, later denarius, translated shilling, denotes a coin worth about 17 cents in our money. One denarius was the pay for a day's labor.

Andrew, the brother of Peter, remarked that there was a lad among them who had five barley loaves and some fishes—but what are these things so many? he exclaimed. The emphasis lies upon the little word but. He saw the poverty of the visible supply; he failed to see the richness of the invisible Power.

At Jesus' direction, the people sat down on the grass, to the number of 5000 men besides women and children according to Matt. 14:21. They sat in companies of fifties, that the distribution might be quickly made. Taking the barley loaves in his hands, Jesus offered thanks, probably he repeated the customary words, "Blessed art thou, Jehovah our God, King of the earth, who causeth bread to come forth from the earth."

Jesus distributed the loaves and the fishes till all were supplied; then he said to his disciples, "Gather up the broken pieces which remain, that nothing be lost." He would not approve of such waste as was formerly to be seen in our households. And they filled twelve baskets therewith. The people who witnessed "the sign" said, "This is in truth the prophet that cometh into the world."

AUTHOR MAKES REPLY

Alexander Dumas could never understand why writers and actors should be called upon to perform gratuitously at parties they attended.

One night at a dinner at Maxime Auberson's, the great French author was sitting next to a famous general, when his hostess whispered to him, "Why do you not tell the general some of your witty stories?"

"Mon Dieu, madame," replied Dumas in suave tones, "every man to his own trade. I was just waiting for the general to fire on a cannon."

CHANGED THEIR MINDS

London Answers says the Germans have ordered all copies of Shakespeare's works to be pulped. Before the war they acclaimed him as a true Aryan dramatist, but now, as a humorist puts it, they've discovered he isn't really Hitlerite.

SEA HEROES GRANTED AWARDS

The official publication of the British Government, The London Gazette, contains citations of awards approved by His Majesty the King, for gallantry at sea made to Captain P. A. Kelly, at the time Chief Officer of the S.S. "Lady Hawkins," Canadian National Steamships, and three crewmen, Robert Clayton, Hantsport, N.S., third wireless officer; Charles Bolivar, able seaman, Upper La Have, N.S., and William Burton, carpenter, Hamilton, Ont. (shown left to right, above). They were commended for their courage and resourcefulness during the voyage of the lifeboat so skillfully navigated by Captain Kelly after the sinking of the Lady Hawkins by an enemy submarine last year.

In naming Captain Kelly, of Halifax, N.S., to be a "member of the civil division of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire," The London Gazette records that "the ship sailing alone was attacked by a U-boat in the Atlantic. The chief Officer after getting his own boat away stayed on board trying to get other boats away. Just before the ship sank he swam to his own boat and took charge. It was overcrowded with 76 survivors. After four days they were picked up. Part of the time the boat met with heavy weather and to steer an overladen boat with an on replacing the lost rudder called for good seamanship."

"The Chief Officer showed sterling qualities of leadership throughout and his cheerfulness sustained the spirits of all in the boat."

TOO BIG AN ORDER

The British Air Ministry and the War Office say they can fit armies or soldiers with boots no matter what size, but the Admiralty was stuck by a recruit who wore size 13 and he was sent out to buy his own.

HOW WE RECOMMEND ALL-BRAN TO ALL OUR FRIENDS

Says Mrs. Joseph Pare, Montreal, Quebec: "I find ALL-BRAN's ALL-BRAN much more satisfactory than pills or powders. Nearly all my family suffered from constipation. Our friends suggested pills and powders, but relief was only temporary. Now we eat ALL-BRAN regularly and recommend it to our friends."

Instead of waiting until you suffer and then doing yourself with harsh purgatives, try ALL-BRAN's "Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to the lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. Eat it daily and enjoy the results. But, remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like a cathartic; it takes time. ALL-BRAN is sold at your grocer's. However, there are a few packages; at restaurants in individual serving packages. SANDS OF HAZARD

By J. B. RYAN

CHAPTER IV.

JACK STOREY returned to the desk of Captain Lebeau. "What is it now, monsieur?" he asked irritably. "I had expected to be finished with your case by this time," smiled Lebeau, "but I did not. Now, Monsieur Ribbott, you killed the man who told that girl to be Annette Fournier. He cleared his throat. "Now, suppose you tell me about that street boy, Monsieur Ribbott. You killed him."

To deny the charge would be to shift the blame to Annette, giving the authorities the excuse they needed to send her to the guillotine. So Jack Storey said, "Yes, I shot him."

Captain Lebeau listened to the story that followed. The meeting with Andre Ribbott, and the warning by Storey by Annette, how Mohammed ibn Mula and Storey had been waylaid by Ismeddin and his cohorts. Why should Monsieur Ribbott wish you harm?"

"I do not know," admitted Storey. "Unless it is the fact that I am on my way to Libya. If Ribbott is the German agent Monsieur suspects, he would be headed in the same direction. Perhaps he feared that I would encounter him on the desert, realize his designs, and report him to the French authorities in time to spoil his plans."

"It still remains to be proven that Annette is what he claims," said Storey. "I am not a fool, Monsieur. I fear, Monsieur, that you have been less truthful than Mademoiselle Annette. My men checked up on your movements last night. No one in the cafe of Amar ben Yusuf remembers seeing either Monsieur Ribbott or Sheikh Ismeddin. However, one lone Berber in the coffee-house with whom you quarreled and whom you followed out into the street, a score of witnesses, Monsieur, have sworn that this is true."

Jack Storey had not considered the possibility of a frame-up. Either the townsmen of Ain Saffa had testified falsely through fear of the redoubtable Kahiri, or Andre Ribbott, acting to delay the man who might expose him, now that the attempt to kill the American had failed, had bribed everyone from Amar ben Yusuf down.

Captain Lebeau spoke to the officer behind Storey. "Bring in Sheikh Ismeddin." And Storey's brows went up at this indication that the Berber chieftain was about to confront him. ISMEDDIN the Lawless, Sheikh of Kahiri, bowed to the seated captain and turned his arrogant eyes on Storey. "This man is mine, Sidi el Roumi," he inquired harshly. "Patience, O Sheikh," said Lebeau. "This is a French court, and French law."

"I know only one law," Ismeddin cut in. "The law of the Prophet." He demanded redress for the death of Mustafa in the name of his tribe. "Sidi Storey admits the killing of Mustafa. It is my duty to punish him. The people of Ain Saffa would accept my decision, but you, Ismeddin, are a Bedouin, distrustful of the ways of the foreigners. However, I am well acquainted with Islamic law. Would you accept a judgment based on those grounds?"

The Kahiri shook puffed, but his eyes remained filled with suspicion and distrust. "Sidi Storey regrets the death of Mustafa," said Lebeau. "It seems that he mistook Mustafa for a robber. To you, Sheikh of Kahiri, in lieu of Mustafa's next of kin, Sidi Storey would make amends, according to Mohammedan law. In the haggard face of Ismeddin, the lines of pain from the sale of his sheep. Name the price, O Ismeddin, of Mustafa's life, and forget the blood that has been spilled between the Kahiri and Sidi Storey."

"The proposal is in accord with the law of the Prophet," answered Ismeddin. "And I, Sheikh of the Kahiri, reject the offer in the name of Ayoub, the father of Mustafa." The Berber drew himself up. "And now, Sidi el Roumi, in keeping with the same law you have invoked, you will turn this man over to the Kahiri for justice."

ISMEDDIN was taken aback; he had not expected the covetous Berber to scorn payment. "It is the law," the captain drummed his fingers on the desk, temporizing. "I must turn him over to you to wreak vengeance upon him. However, there are a few formalities that must be complied with before he leaves the prison."

The pale eyes narrowed, and a cold smile showed between the teeth. "The pale eyes narrowed, and a cold smile showed between the teeth. "The pale eyes narrowed, and a cold smile showed between the teeth. "The pale eyes narrowed, and a cold smile showed between the teeth."

"The law of Islam does not say I must release this prisoner," said Lebeau. "That is for me to decide." He fingered the papers on the desk. "That will be all, Sheikh Ismeddin."

For a moment the Arab remained motionless, like a volcano poised for eruption. The guard moved his rifle significantly and the desert chief reluctantly left the room. He bowed stiffly to the captain and strode toward the door.

On the way out, he said, "By Allah, Sidi el Roumi," he snarled, "though you lock this man up until doomday, the Kahiri will remain in the street, until you turn him out into the street."

His footsteps echoed in the corridor, and Lebeau smiled grimly at Jack Storey. "You see, monsieur? I am doing you a favor by keeping you under guard. Only walls and guns can keep you alive now until I get you to Fiskin." He glanced at the waiting guard. "Return Monsieur Storey to his cell."

Before the officer could respond to the order, a distant door slammed and a man was unable to sleep, even when the noises of town and building died into silence.

It must have been midnight when Storey, lying wide-eyed in the prison, heard a faint scraping sound that could be only the cautious turning of a key in the lock of the door. He faced the sound, but in the less room he could see nothing, but he detected the whisper of the moving door, the tread of a soft foot, and the careful closing of the door.

SELECTED RECIPES

TWO-EGG SUGARLESS CAKE
2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake flour
4½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
1½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup light corn syrup
2 eggs, unbeaten
1½ cup milk

Sift flour once, measure and add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add syrup gradually, beating well after each addition. Add 1½ cup flour and beat until smooth and well blended. After each, one at a time, beating after each. Add remaining flour in thirds, alternating with milk in thirds, beating well after each addition. For best results beat cake very well at each stage of the mixing. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F) 30 minutes or until done. *Note: The baking powder quantity may be regulated downward if you are using a very strong quality. For ordinary domestic brands 4½ teaspoons are necessary.

SNOW-WHITE SUGARLESS FROSTING
1½ cups corn syrup
2 egg whites
Pinch of salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla
Combine egg whites, corn syrup, and salt in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, about 10 minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water; add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Cover top and sides of cake. 2500

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

HAZARDS OF THE HOME

"Make Your Home Safe, an article in a recent issue of 'Hygiene', provides warning and advice for the careless home-lover, who disregarding hazards which exist in his home, may find himself a hospital patient as the result of an accident."

The more obvious dangers such as loaded firearms; toys strewn around the floors and on stairways; bottles of poison not properly labelled; sharp-edged implements and matches within reach of children, are readily recognized, says the article, but there are less noticeable contributing causes of accidents within the home also require attention.

Stairways should be ample in width and constructed with a proper consideration for the horizontal as well as the vertical spatial relations. A size 11 foot, says the article, does not fit well on a 1 inch tread wide, shallow treads are easier on both the muscles and the heart.

Open drawers should never be used as a step-ladder in reaching for a dish on the top shelf, it is pointed out, and chairs and tables should not be used as substitutes for step-ladders.

Super-waxed floors are a potential danger, too, it states, and rugs should be kept in good repair to avoid the possibility of catching the feet in frayed borders, etc. The wearing of soft bedroom slippers and old, broken down shoes, no matter how comfortable may result in a wrenched or strained ankle. Never run up and down stairs in loose slippers, for it may mean a nasty fall.

Rubber mats should be used in bathrooms, declares the article, and a handle provided for the hand to grasp firmly. Gas heaters and stoves which are known to be leaky should not be used. Electric cords should not be pulled from sockets with the current still turned on, and electrical appliances should not be used if they have a defective wiring.

Included in the list of things to avoid are the removing of slivers with unsterilized needles, and the treating of corns and calluses with knives and scissors, both contributing causes of dangerous infection.

HAS ARTIFICIAL HANDS

Edward T. Mitchell, of Cardiff, Wales, who lost both hands in a gun explosion, has an artificial pair supplied by the Ministry of Pensions. Chief clerk in a laundry, he can write, handle the telephone and in wax cards and is handy with a knife and fork at home.

For Merchant Seamen

New Luxury Club in Liverpool Is Always Open

There is a new luxury club in Liverpool, the £20,000 Ocean Club but the only evening dress seen in it is that of the head waiters. It is a club for merchant seamen, open to any sailor 24 hours of the day, seven days a week. Everything in it is unusual. There is no canteen service. Waitresses serve dinner at their own tables in the 180-seater restaurant. Forms and trestle tables, found in most seamen's homes, are barred. The food is prepared under the direction of a well-known chef. Prices are reasonable and the menu is varied.

CHART HELPS YOU TO LEARN TYPING

Bad Typist Loses in Business

Rub, rub, rub! She'll soon rub out her job if she doesn't learn to type "G" when she wants "G" and "T" when she wants "T". Time, money and jobs are lost regularly by girls who don't know the accurate touch-typing system. And yet it's easy—you can start learning at home.

A chart like the one in our sketch shows you just how to place your fingers on the keyboard and what keys each finger should strike.

The eight dark keys, or "home keys" are where your eight fingers rest when not typing. When one finger moves to strike another key, the others stay "home," keeping out of trouble; then the typing finger quickly returns to its base.

In addition, the keyboard is divided into eight sections, one to each finger. Your right forefinger can type "f" and "b" but can never jump out of its section to "e" or "i". That's how mistakes are prevented! Our 32-page instruction booklet includes chart, diagram of typewriter, and daily drills. Also describes good usage in typing English, how to type social and official business letters, the correct composition of business reports, and the correct use of the typewriter.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Teach Yourself Touch Typewriting" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

SMILE AWHILE

Sandy McTavish and his wife paused thoughtfully in front of the restaurant bearing a sign: "Dinner Here From 12 to 3—50 Cents"

"Coom, Annette," Sandy said approvingly. "Three hours' eatin' for 50c is verra reasonable."

Observant Child—Mom, why hasn't dad any hair?

Mother—Because he thinks too much, darling.

Child—And why do you have so much hair, mom?

Mother—Because . . . er . . . You get along to bed this instant.

"Call the head waiter!" angrily demanded the restaurant guest. "I never saw anything as tough as this blankety blank steak!"

"You will," said the waiter, pointedly. "If I call the head waiter."

"Did you become engaged at the seashore, Boss?"

"No; and just look at me—tanned as an Indian, and all for nothing!"

"What do you call a person that reads heads, pop?"

"A phenologist, my boy."

"Go!" Then ma must be one of those things. She felt my head this afternoon and said right away: "You've been swimming."

Griggs—You say that your wife went to college before you married her?

Griggs—Yes, she did.

Beugs—And she thought of taking up law, you said?

Griggs—Yes, but now she's satisfied to let it drop.

"How can I get an article into your paper?" asked a subscriber of the editor of a country weekly. The editor replied: "Simply spread the paper on the floor, nice and smooth, place article exactly in centre, neatly fold the edges over it, and tie with a string."

"My wife is a whiz at removing spots from clothes."

"Grease spots?"

"No, five spots and ten spots."

Fair Amateur—"The curtain will rise in a few minutes. Are you quite sure you know your words?"

Hero—Yes; all except the part where I kiss you. I guess we had better rehearse that again.

Driving Examiner—"What would you do if the car brakes suddenly failed to work?"

Pupil—"Hit something cheap."

"Is the doctor in?"

"No, sir."

"Do you know when he'll be back?"

"I don't know, sir; he went out on an eternity case."

"Mail from home does more for the morale than a four days leave" was the finding of Postmaster General Mulock in his recent trip to Britain made for the express purpose of checking up on mail and parcel deliveries for the troops. "When troops have been away from home for years it becomes a very important matter for them to be in touch with their homes and families," said Col. Mulock. Upon his return to Canada the Postmaster General told a press conference that Canada must consider establishing a transatlantic service to facilitate the movement of mail to those of the armed forces overseas.
